

OUR TOWN

Monday was a busy day in Cameron. Aside from being First Monday with its time honored attractions, it was Trades Day. There was a band concert on the square and public speaking. Up stairs the district Judge was swearing in the grand jury and the September term of court was under way. It was Labor Day and up at the Baptist church the county workers conference was in session. The Lion's Club had a ball game scheduled for the student loan and other things of interest were in evidence, including a golf tournament.

Editor of the Rockdale Reporter has penned the following verse:

The Magnolia boom is over
And our royalties we'd sell
But will soon all be in clover
When Lee brings in his well.

Recently we had something to say about the Magnolia test as a news mention to which the Reporter took exception as it always does. It was our information that the Magnolia test while promising great development through the columns of the Reporter, was a failure and came in as sulphur water well, and we so recorded in the course of news events. During the high pressure period the Reporter was giving such a wealth of geological data that many, unsuspecting, rushed in where angels never go, and now, as the Reporter editor says: "Our royalties we'd sell." There is really no need to worry though! The Reporter has brought its rig from the sand hills bordering on Lee county to the Milverna field and it is said that its two edged bit is down close to that elusive Edwards lime.

PROHIBITION HITS ANOTHER SNAG; NO VINEGAR STATUTE.

It is probable that some evil genius of chemistry has found a way around the courts in the enforcement of the prohibition laws that beats all technicalities and red tape.

A malt product now on the market and offered for sale by some of the grocery stores is said to be very fine from which to manufacture beer with a voltage much higher than the amber fluid of other days but after a given period of fermentation turns to vinegar.

So far there seems to be no law against the possession, manufacture or sale of vinegar.

L. L. Blaylock, sheriff of Milam county, points out in discussing the annoyance of home brew manufacturers that in the case of arrest and the seizure of the evidence proof would be hard to make. For says he, before the time of trial the stuff would turn to vinegar and vinegar as evidence against the defendant would not convict. On the other hand if sufficient fermentation had not set in to produce vinegar before trial and conviction, in the event of reversal in the higher courts, the evidence which must be introduced in trial of a case, would be beyond all virtue so far as credible evidence is concerned.

It looks like the legislature will have a pass a law against the manufacture of vinegar or any other degenerate product of well aimed beer.

ED IN CATHOLIC CEMETERY
THURSDAY.

Mrs. Emma Lenhart, 66, pioneer settler of Milam county, died suddenly at the family residence near Walkers Creek Tuesday morning from heart failure.

She had resided in the same home with her husband, Frank Lenhart, for 38 years and in her death leaves a wide circle of friends to mourn her loss.

A large concourse of friends and acquaintances attended the funeral and went to the home during the day and night the body lay there.

TRADES DAY SUCCESS SAYS TESTIMONY OF MERCHANTS WHO EXPERIENCE IN- CREASE IN BUSINESS FOR THE DAY.

Trades Day in Cameron Monday September 7 was a success according to the testimony of merchants. The crowds were not as large as had been anticipated but the volume of business done was greater by far than any previous First Monday this year.

All agree that for the next First Monday better attractions will have to be provided in the entertainment program. Failure to secure the band for the afternoon was a disappointment to many and the parade was far below what might have been accomplished if sufficient work and co-operation had been realized.

Some of the merchants who testify to the success of the day are as follows:

"We received checks at our store from various portions of Milam county and even beyond the borders of the county and on many banks," says J. D. Dobbins in discussing the success of the trades day effort. "We sold sugar at a loss but made many other sales during the day not only at our grocery store but in our dry goods store." Mr. Dobbins thinks the trade day should be continued. He thinks the program for entertaining the people should be better arranged with more music.

"I am strong for the Trades Day and First Monday business," says W. B. Levy in commenting on the success of the day. "We have on a sale of our men and boys goods and we invited the people to our store in trades day. They came and bought. We were busy the entire day and did as much business as on Saturday the opening day of the sale." Mr. Levy wants to see a better program of entertainment for the people on that day.

C. W. Bradbery of the Louis S. Pierce store says that Trades Day which was First Monday was the best day the store has had on that day since last May. "We did a good business and believe the effort was worthwhile," said Mr. Bradbery. "Not since last May has First Monday been notified as a good day for the merchants as well as for the people who trade here. As for us we are for the effort to revive interest in First Monday and we trust a better program of entertainment can be arranged for the First Monday in October."

"We made many sales and gave away many packages of sugar," says F. E. Jackson owner of the Pace-Marshall Drug Company. Mr. Jackson gave away two pounds of sugar with each dollar purchase on trades day. "I believe the effort to revive First Monday was successful and I trust that in the future we can have greater co-operation and a better program of entertainment for the people. They appreciate the bargains offered and the hospitality of the city," Mr. Jackson is president of the Commercial Club sponsoring the trades day.

Claude Triggs discussing the trades day said: "Our business for the day showed a good improvement over previous First Monday trading in Cameron and we are for the continuation of the Trades Day. Our sales for the day were above the average First Monday and we consider that the effort made to bring people to Cameron on that day is responsible for the increase." Mr. Triggs hopes for a bigger First Monday in October.

"The best Monday business we have had in several months," says L. F. Gohmert of the Variety Store. "We sold more goods Monday than on any previous first Monday in several months and we believe that the Trades Day effort is responsible for this improvement. We trust that the First Monday in October will be better and that suitable entertainment with more music can be provided for the people who come to Cameron." Mr. Gohmert is strong for the Trades Day movement.

Dr. G. E. Sutton at the Square Drug Store says: "Our fountain sold three times as much on Trades Day as it had for any previous Monday. We believe Trades Day a success and hope the Oldest Coins Are Owned by Fred Henry of Cameron.

Fred Henry is exhibiting to his friends here some old English Coins, one made in 1691 and the other in 1676. They were brought to America by Mrs. Fred Henry when they were married in New York last year.

Mrs. Henry received them from her parents as gift, having been relics in the family for many years.

The coins are about the size of an American dollar but slightly less in weight. The head of the King appears on one side and the Crown on the other. Various titles and figures appear around the edges. The coins are interesting relics and are the oldest coins ever seen in Milam county.

SEARCH AND SEIZURE ACT ONLY LAW ENACTED FOR MASSES IN MANY YEARS SAYS JUDGE LEWIS H. JONES IN CHARGE

Judge Lewis H. Jones, well known in Cameron, founder of the association of District Judges in Texas defends the search and seizure law and says it is the only legislative enactment in a century for the sovereign rights of citizenship. Judge Jones in charging the grand jury at Lampasas discussed the new law. His language is severe and goes so far as to say that he is glad that under the law and constitution of the state a man, secure in the precincts of his home can shoot and shoot to kill any man or officer seeking to enter therein in violation of the law.

The following is the text of his speech before the grand jury at Lampasas:

It is of little concern to the court whether a law is a good one or a bad one; in such cases it is sufficient to direct our attention to its enforcement. Of recent months, however, there has been such a widespread discussion in the public press and by many good, but misguided and misinformed citizens, as well as by those whose views of government and public officers are intolerant, of an act passed by the last legislature, known as the search and seizure law, that I feel that I would be remiss in my duty as a district judge, did I not make a few observations in that regard. The people of the district are entitled to such information. I be-

Can Run Your Car In Day Without Light Adjustment.

Judge Kemp in discussing the new headlight law says that so far as investigation goes there is no penalty for operating your car in day light hours without having the lights tested.

From this it may be inferred that if arrested for not being able to show certificate in day time no conviction would be had. But if the car is running at night the law applies.

It is alright to ride in day time but don't try it after dark if your lights have not been tested.

Sheriff Gets 125 Bottles in a Raid.

Sheriff Blaylock in a raid last week arrested T. Oliver and took 125 bottles of home made beer. Oliver, according to the sheriffs office had just completed a sentence in the penitentiary and had only been back in Milam county a short time.

The sheriff has made a number of raids recently and finds that the manufacture of beer constitutes the greatest volume of violation of the prohibition laws.

The search and seizure law, he says is a hindrance to the enforcement of prohibition.

CALDWELL LIONS DEFEAT CAMERON CLUB

RETURN GAME AT CALDWELL.
CALLED FOR FRIDAY SEP-TEMBER 18TH.

Cameron Lions were defeated 20 to 4 in the base ball game played here Monday with the Caldwell Lions Club team.

The game was staged for the benefit of the student loan fund sponsored by the Lions Club of Cameron. Admission of 25c was charged at Lawless Green field where the game was played.

Paul Webb, pitching for Cameron, took the mound in the opening session got through the initial frame without a score being made by the Caldwell team. His success however, was short lived, for the former Trinity College star hurler was sent to the showers by Skipper Love after the King of Beasts from Burleson had scored 8 runs in the second inning. Reluctant to yield the mound to another, Webb, was threatened with a $2500 fine and indefinite suspension by Skipper Love finally came out.

Dan Tyson playing at first base was also retired by the Skipper who sensed disaster because of the debacle in the second. Dan went in the air for a fast one delivered by Cy Perkins anti-over style and got a bruised finger and the showers.

Ty Cobb, midget hurler who writes well about base ball and the like was given his fling. He fared badly, Caldwell scoring about 8 runs. Ray Barfield finished the game, holding the Lions from Caldwell to scattered hits and only 4 runs in several innings.

Frank Jackson old time leaguer showed he still possesses the hold Eagle eye. Of the five hits garnered by Cameron he got two of them. Pappy Peyton got a long hit but was thrown out at home plate after a ten minute struggle around the four corners.

Dr. Tom Tenson and Bill Triggs started at second and short respectively as did Cy Perkins.

Skipper Love has the boys working out each day for the game at Caldwell on Friday September 18.

Watch Your Step! Headlights Must Be Adjusted.

There are 6100 cars and trucks in Milam county and it may safely be said that about one half of these cars and trucks are in and around the vicinity of Cameron. But, we find thru investigation that only 1610 car owners had headlights tested.

It seems that the people are not taking all of Ma's new laws seriously. But, those who fail to heed her warnings are bound to face trouble sooner or later.

You must present your headlight certificate upon the registration of your car. This certificate will be required by the tax collector.

And why not have your lights tested? Think of the discomfort and accidents that have been caused by bright, glaring lights, and this will now be avoided, in a measure, if everyone abides the law.

The cost is not great—only 25 cents at any of the four stations in town. These stations report up to date the following number of headlights tested:

Wilkerson Bros., 410.
Barnore Motor Co., 480.
Hubert Heffley Motor Co., 500
Fred J. Matula, 300.

WHAT MY NEIGHBOR SAYS.

Is of Interest to Cameron Folks.

When one has had the misfortune to suffer from backaches, headaches, dizziness, urinary disorders and other kidney ills—and has found relief from all this sickness and suffering, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following case is only one of many thousands, but it is that of a Cameron resident. Who could ask for a better example?

Mrs. O. C. Wilson, 824 Washington St., says: "My back ached and at times it was so lame I felt as though I had been beaten. Bending or stooping sent sharp, shooting pains through the small of my back and it seemed impossible for me to straighten. Spells of dizziness often came over me and my kidneys acted often. Nights found me worn out and irritable and often my feet were swollen. After using Doan's Pills from the New Cameron Drug Co., my kidney trouble was ended."

HINTS ON ARTIFICIAL AND BROOD- ING OF FALL CHICKS.

By Mrs. J. W. Recknor Jr.

Start the incubator in late August or early September so the chicks will be well feathered out before cold weather arrives. As a general rule fall-hatched chicks bring a better price on the market and the pullets make excellent spring layers. At this season of the year the weather is much cooler and the insects are not so bad, therefore it will be more profitable to hatch now than in summer.

The first thing to do before placing the eggs in the incubator is to disinfect all parts of it well. Test the thermometer by placing it in water of about 100 degrees temperature. The incubator should be placed in a well-ventilated room, on a solid floor. By a solid floor we mean a level floor. Raise plenty of windows to insure of fresh air and tack muslin over them to prevent draught. See that the room is perfectly clean and all rubbish is cleared away. Never place the machine where the direct rays of the sun will fall on it, neither where there is a fire or a furnace. Have everything well cleaned, disinfected and ventilated before the chicks arrive and the battle is half won.

Testing Out Machine

The incubator should be run several days before placing the eggs in it. This is to make sure that all parts are doing their duty and that the heat is uniform and that the heat is well under control. The next step is the selection of eggs. Do not put dark and light eggs in the same hatch as white ones hatch sooner than brown ones. Select large uniform eggs, free from spots and ridges, as large perfect eggs produce large healthy chicks while small mottled eggs will produce a weakly hatch. Eggs with very thin shells should be discarded as they are likely to become broken in and thus cause a loss of time and reduce the possibilities of a good hatch. Eggs which are over ten days old should never be used, and if they have been in a cool room should be placed in some warm room a few hours before setting. In placing them on but allow plenty of room.

The temperature during the first day should not be allowed to run higher than 101 degrees, gradually increasing until the last week of incubating it will run about 104 or 105 degrees.

A test should be made on the seventh and again on the fourteenth day, throwing away all infertile eggs.

It is very important that the moisture supply be kept up as the eggs will not hatch near so well if there is insufficient moisture. If possible the floor of the incubator room should be flooded with clean water each day. If this can not be done then the next best thing is to sprinkle around the incubator with luke warm water. Keep the lamps burning regularly and evenly, so not allow them to smoke or cease burning any lengthy period. All lamps and trays should be attended to before retiring each night. Turn the eggs twice daily, as nearly twelve hours apart as possible, from the third to the eighteenth day. Have the hands perfectly clean and handle the eggs carefully.

Cooling The Eggs

Begin cooling the eggs the morning of the seventh day. Do not cool too much, testing them by placing them to the face. If they feel cool, but not cold, they are about the right temperature. It is better to have them a bit too warm than too cool, but either condition carried to the extreme will cause weakly chicks.

If the incubator is equipped with a nursery test the temperature of it before placing any chicks in it as it is likely to be too cool and the chicks would become chilled. Darken the door of the machine to prevent the chicks crowding toward the light and prevent the too picking habit. Give them water and sour milk if they seem to warm and if not it will be advisable to give the sour milk anyway. Do not open the incubator door after the hatch begins even though the chicks should overturn the thermometer. Keep them in the incubator until they are from twenty four to thirty six hours old.

While the hatch is being completed start the brooders so as to regulate the heat before putting the chicks in to them. A good home made brooder is made simply with a goods-box. Have a box large enough to hold the chicks without crowding and at each end of it cut a round hole the size of a stove pipe. Run the pipe thru the box and with the aid of two elbow joints turn one end of the pipe up and the other down. Make several small holes near the top of the box and tack muslin over them. This will give ventilation and avoid a draught. Make a frame just a bit smaller than the brooder and to sew burlap and to the burlap sew some soft goods that has been cut in small strips. This is for a hover and should be placed so it will come down well over the chicks backs. Of course, as they grow, it will be necessary to raise the hover until they can do without it. The frame can be made to slip in and out of the brooder thus rendering the cleaning of the brooder easier.

Using The Brooder

Place the brooder or common kerosene oil lamp under the stove pipe that comes toward the ground, allowing the top of the lamp to extend up into the pipe. This brooder can be used safely out-doors in good weather. This method allows the heat to come down naturally from the top and is not so apt to cause leg weakness as is the case of most home-made brooders where the heat is supplied from the bottom.

Do not have the brooder too warm, but be governed by the action of the chicks. If they huddle together they are cold, but, on the other hand, if they scatter about and seem restless they are too warm. Avoid crowding and do not allow the heat in the brooder to become insufficient toward morning and chill the chicks.

not confined to the men of learning and education, but find lodgment in the mind of the tyro in the street.

Deep down in the breast of every man is something—some innate, indefinable, unknown quality—that causes him to be ambitious; that fires in his heart a desire to have and to hold dominion over his fellows. He yearns to flourish the scepter and sway the mace of undisputed power. It was this spirit exaggerated in the mind of Louis XIV who, when reminded that what he was about to do was a violation of the law, exclaimed: "I am the law!"

Abuse of Power.

Some men abuse power. Usually the smaller the man the more likely it is that he will abuse it, and the result is that in his own sphere or bailliwick he is a tyrant. I believe that it can be safely laid down as a fundamental proposition that no petty officer on earth, however good, ought to have the legal right, in a free state with a brace of pistols on his person and by some subterfuge or another, without a warrant in due form of law, to enter a citizen's home, tear up his furniture, mistreat and offend his wife and children and humiliate him beyond description, and after such officer has found nothing save that he has satisfied his own malice or curiosity, be able to justify his act on the ground that he thought he would find a piece of stolen property or, per chance, a little home brew. Some men say that it makes the prohibition law impossible of enforcement. That is not true. Do they want to destroy the constitution? Take it away and he is a slave to the whims of an officer! If the citizen yields one legal right and immunity today, and another 25 years from today, and still another 75 years further on; don't you see that within the course of only a few generations his status will be reduced to that of a chattel? Governments do not change in a day, except by revolution. One generation barely notices the imperceptible change taking place, wrought by the passing years, yet it is apparent to every student of history that within a few generations, unless matters change, the people will not be free except in name. Today almost all the rights of the states have been yielded to the federal government.

Any Confederate soldier who "fought for the storm cradled nation that fell" knows more about this than anyone else. So far as I know, this is the only law that has been passed in a generation in the interest of the citizen. I do not mean the boot-legger; I mean every man from the greatest and best to the lowest and meanest. Every Texan ought to feel that he is independent and free, and like the "fabled McGregor, stand with his feet upon his native heath, and his eyes upon the peak of Ben Lomond," and walk the earth as though through his veins there traced the blood of a hundred kings. I am glad that under the constitution and law of my state, every citizen can stand in his own front door, even though it be a hovel, with his wife and little children by his side, and shoot and shoot to kill any man or officer who attempts unlawfully and without authority of law, to break in and ransack his little home, and I am thrilled the more when I know that same citizen can come into this court, or any other court in which justice is done, and stand up courageously and unfraid, and say to all the world, "I have done no wrong." This is the spirit that animated our forebears, and made this nation "the greatest that ever arose to animate the hopes or to bless the sacrifices of mankind."

"What sought they thus afar—rich jewels of the mine?"

Wealth of seas—the spoils of war! They sought in faith's pure shrine.

I called it holy ground.

The place where they first trod, They left unstained,

What here they found—

Freedom to live and worship God."

Jeffersonian Doctrine.

Thomas Jefferson said certain Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness; that the government protecting these rights is a free government, and the government denying them a despotism. When he said that he was familiar with the history of mankind. He knew that officers of Louis XIV had without warrants or form of law, entered the homes of the peasants of France, dragged men to the bastille and beheaded them, even when they had done no wrong; he had seen their leering eyes through the cracks in the filthy dungeons. He had seen the doors of supposedly free men battered down by petty officers of the crown, without warrant in law, and in their hands no warrant other than weapons of violence, beating the citizens, running them into exile and separating them from their families. They were treated as shrinking slaves and not as citizens. Our constitution and this law protects the citizen of Texas against these very things. You know that your home is secure from unreasonable search and seizure, and that it is held by the law against the lawful invasion of officers who through malice, hatred or ill will might desire to enter. It places the homes above the highest officer and makes every citizen an uncrowned king, whether his possessions are little or much, or nothing at all. The law provides how the home may be searched. It is simple, How? It is this:

When an affidavit is made by credible citizens, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the person or thing to be seized, a warrant is issued by a justice of the peace, county or district judge, directed to any peace officer. When these requisites are complied with, such officer has the whole power of the state behind him, and may use such force as is necessary to gain entrance, even to tear down the doors. Is this unreasonable? Does it make the prohibition law impossible of enforcement? I can cite of my own knowledge, and I am sure can also every other judge in Texas, numerous instances in which Texas homes have been entered and searched without a warrant, the occupants of the house treated with indignities, under the guise and subterfuge that such officer suspected that liquor or stolen property would be found, yet none was found. There was then no law to punish such officer. The law first quoted herein provides a penalty. Would you have that law repealed? Would you have it so that the "king can do no wrong" in Texas? The 39th legislature, page 186, passed this law:

The Law in the Case.

"No evidence obtained by an officer or other person in violation of any provisions of the Constitution or laws of the State of Texas, or of the United States of America, shall be admitted in evidence against the accused on the trial of any criminal case."

Should the courts ever hold that in case of murder, burglary or robbery, or any other offense, that the testimony could not be admitted because of this statute it would in effect be because of the constitution.

Drink Water If Kidneys Bother

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Pains or Bladder is Irritated

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

If it is violation of the constitution it ought not to be admitted. In all such cases it is a simple matter to secure the warrant, and then no question can arise in any case. The thought advanced here is not new. It has been upheld and defended by the greatest minds that ever graced the American bar, by lovers of Liberty and by statesmen from Washington to Woodrow Wilson; by warriors from Robert the Crusader who threw his intrepid legions across the ramparts of Jerusalem and received the benedictions of the Christian world, to John J. Pershing who led the greatest army that "ever donned a uniform or fought beneath a flag."

SERVING AS COUNTY JUDGE HAMILTON COUNTY MAN SUCCEEDS GREAT GRAND FATHER IN OFFICE.

The following item is from the August issue of the County Progress.

Judge P. M. Rice, County Judge of Hamilton County, Texas, serves as County Judge of same county as his great Grand father after period of 79 years.

Now listen boys, after a period of 79 years, it is brought to light that down in Hamilton county, Texas, Judge P. M. Rice now occupies the same position and bench that his great grand father held in 1846. This is some record for keeping the office of county judge in one family. Who can beat it? If you think you can tell one better than this, why just come ahead. I am not vouching for this story but my good friend and our well known convention associate, Jeff T. Kemp, county judge of the Free State of Milam, declares it is true, and his letter in full is published herein as follows:

Cameron, Texas, June 19, 1925.

Judge B. D. Sartin,
Wichita Falls, Texas,
Dear Judge:

Enclosed find copy of letter from Judge P. M. Rice, of Hamilton county, which I am sending you so that you can see that the "County Progress" is read and appreciated.

The letter discloses that Judge Rice occupies a very unique position in Texas, at this time, in that his great grand father, Isaac Standefer was the first County Judge of Milam County, after the county seat was moved from Nashville to Cameron, which was in 1846. After the organization of Burleson county, the territory comprising Hamilton county was then in Milam county, and we find his great grand son still occupying that position after 79 years. Some record.

With kindest regards, I remain,
Yours very truly,
JEFF T. KEMP.

Thorndale Man Is Killed in Crash of Automobile Truck.

Mr. T. E. Wright a citizen of Thorndale, who had been hauling gravel for the City of Houston for the past few weeks, was fatally injured last Wednesday when his truck collided with another, the injuries resulting in his death about one o'clock last Saturday afternoon. The body was shipped to Thorndale for burial.

Mr. Wright was about forty years of age and has a wife and family here where the family has made its home for the past two years or more. He owned the truck he was driving at the time of his death and prior to going to Houston about three months ago, he did hauling for the trade here in town. The details of the accident in Houston which resulted in his death are lacking, but it is known that he was employed hauling gravel for the City of Houston and was at work at the time of his death. His truck is said to have run into another truck, or the other truck ran into him. Both trucks were considerably damaged but the other driver seemed to escape serious injury.

The body reached Thorndale over the L-G. N. early Sunday morning and was placed in charge of A. J. Urban & Sons, funeral directors here, immediately upon its arrival, and later carried to the home of Mrs. Wright's mother, Mrs. H. Roepke, where it remained until Monday morning when it was taken to St. John's Lutheran church at Detmold, where the funeral service was held about 9:30 and interment was made in the Detmold Cemetery following the service. Rev. Mr. Walther, pastor of the church, conducted the service.

The deceased was born in Lexington, Ky., March 10, 1882, was married to Miss Emma Waggoner of Thorndale at Austin, Texas, Nov. 8, 1903. They made their home in Kansas City, Kan., several years following their marriage and moved to Texas and Thorndale a little more than two years ago.

WHITE MULE, LONG TIME DELIGHT OF MOONSHINERS HAS COMPETITION FOR HONORS BY NEW MALT BEER IN CANS

Home Brew as factor in prohibition enforcement is getting to be a serious problem, says Sheriff L. L. Blaylock who has just raided a private home and took away 125 bottles of this fermenting beverage.

Malt manufacturers have put on the market a malt product in cans of about 2 pound size and patrons of the grocery stores who feel the old thirst coming on can buy a little malt and make a little beer. Indications are that there is a ready sale for this product as the sheriff has been busy gathering in the finished product.

It is precarious business the sheriff says. Every time he goes in a house on a raid some of the over fermented bottles explode and they sound like firearms. At first the sheriff thought he was meeting armed resistance but has become used to the popping and now his aim is to keep clear of the exploding bottles.

According to some of the former disciples of the brass rail the beer thus made from the malt sold from grocery store shelves is drunk producing and probably exceeds by several portions the famous amber fluid of other days. Prohibition grocery dealers who are sticklers for the law have refused to stock the stuff but some of the stores are taking advantage of the ready demand for it.

THE TELEGRAPHY TOUCH

The General Railroad and General Western Union Courses Satisfies the Aspiration that Girls and Boys have to Operate the Telegraph Instrument.

There is a magic association with telegraphy that few are able to resist. The people who follow the impulse to take up telegraphy as a profession usually make good beyond their expectations and claim that reward which accompanies the knowledge of this profitable vocation.

Every railroad executive has, sometimes in his career, worked a telegraphy trick. This explains why there is a wide-open field for operators. Operators are promoted to other branches of railroading. They don't remain telegraphers for long. The General Western Union course is offered to all young men and young women interested in commercial telegraphy and those who are likely to enter the employ of the Western Union Company. The absolute accuracy they learn while operating the key places them in direct line for agencies, chief dispatchers' positions, and positions in the operating department of railroads.

The railroads and Western Union Company are showing unusual interest in the Telegraphy Department of Tyler Commercial College, at Tyler, Texas. One of their local railroads supplies messages to the advanced students. The main line wire, running into the Telegraphy Department, supplies all messages transmitted from station to station. The College is supplied with every book, tariff, report blanks, and every form that is used in the railroad offices.

Soon after the Cotton Belt began to supply the College with regular railroad blanks, a wire to receive real messages and began to assist the instructors in the teaching of station work, the manager of the Tyler office of the Western Union Telegraph Company visited the Telegraphy department and arranged for similar work to be done in the Western Union line. Tariffs, books, blanks, daily and monthly report blanks and all other supplies are furnished. Typewriters, files and complete instruments are in the Western Union department at Tyler Commercial College.

By having the Western Union and the Railroad Companies to work with the students causes the Tyler Commercial College to have more calls for their graduates than they can supply. Just as surely as you graduate from either the General Western Union or the General Railroad Course, you can be placed in a good position at a good salary.

HONOR TO ORGANIZED LABOR.

Labor Day, naturally, is an occasion on which to pay our respects to organized labor.

And, without any meaningless flattery or succumbing to rhetorical intoxication, a great deal may be said.

Organized labor has contributed more to the establishing of a high standard of living in America, and the maintenance of that standard than all the federal tariff laws in existence.

Organized labor has done more to take the children of the nation from toil and place them in schools than all other agencies combined.

Organized labor has done more to bring about tolerable living conditions in crowded industrial areas than any number of commissions and social service bodies.

Organized labor has done more to enforce safety rules and the installation of safety devices; more to preserve the limbs and lives of human beings than all the self-called fraternal and brotherly love societies in the nation.

Organized labor has done more to improve the environment of the women and children of the toiling classes, whether in the slums of the city or on the tenant farms of the backwoods, than all the altruism of the self-righteous.

"It has worked for selfish ends," shout its enemies. Perhaps. But from the viewpoint of the public, it has worked for the rights of human beings, for the betterment of life for the vast majority of people. The struggle of underprivileged classes for justice and a "place in the sun" of life, may be largely a struggle for selfish ends, but just the same it is a struggle for justice and right.

And organized labor, whether it would have it or not, has carried forward the battle in behalf of all working classes. Working rules set by organized labor, after years of struggle, have become recognized as just for all. Wage scales set by organized labor have become recognized as standards by which all labor is paid.

A respect for the individuality of the working man, a recognition of the honor of skilled craftsmanship, enforced by organized labor, has extended to all labor.

Even to the unorganized workmen on the farms organized labor has given its aid and sympathy. Every move for the farmer's benefit, every attempt to carry to him some of the advantages of the city-world that he feeds and clothes, has been given the unwavering support of organized labor. And this in spite of the incessant propaganda that seeks to breed suspicion and hatred between the two classes of producers.

Organized labor's accomplishments could not have been elected, of course, if they had been based on unsound economics. It has succeeded in bringing fairly decent wages to the great body of workers, not only because it fought valiantly to that end, but because a well-paid body of producers is fundamental to the continued prosperity of an industrial age.

From any single employer's viewpoint, of course, it is desirable to obtain labor as cheaply as possible; but from the general viewpoint of national production and consumption, it is evident that the great body of citizens who make up the working classes must have a purchasing power if factories are to flourish and sell their products.

The more the people can buy the more factories there will be, the greater the volume of business and the greater the profit. The thing moves in an endless circle.

On one extreme we see Mexico. The peons earn virtually nothing, and can buy virtually nothing. As a result industries can not live, and the profits from them are unknown. No opposite extreme has ever been brought to attention.

This is true probably because the workman can not in the long run get more than he earns. When an industry becomes unprofitable the capital is withdrawn—a process involving some pain perhaps to the owner, but placing the worker and his family squarely up against the problem of livelihood. So the prosperity of the worker depends directly on the prosperity of the industry in which he is employed; he has a much more vital interest in its welfare than has the general public.

A little consideration of these facts would allay a good deal of the heedless talk of radicalism and bolshevism in this country. Despite the prattle of rattle-brained politicians and self-suspected philosophers, the great body of American workingmen, as joined together in organized labor, constitutes an integral part of our economic and industrial system. In some respects they are its chief bulwarks, because they keep from the claws of communism the human material on which it feeds. By their success in achieving the rights of men and women they forestall hatred of the established order.

Organized labor has made its mistakes, of course. It has had to fight cruel battles, and all conflicts lead to injustices. Success in places may have made it arrogant, but its leaders know full well that nothing will destroy it so certainly as unreasonableness.

It offers no panacea for human ills. It has no method of creating a millennium. It is willing to go along slowly with the rest of American citizens, peacefully working out the best plan of living we know how, faithful to the American democracy, loyal to the nation's political institutions and contributing mightily to maintaining the idealism on which the nation was founded.

Certainly its leaders are worthy of a hearing, and its cause is worthy the sympathy of all people who care for the recognition and maintenance of human rights.—Houston Chronicle.

His Own Death Notice

Mike was working diligently in his potato patch when he saw the postman coming up the road, bringing a black edged envelope.

Mike became uneasy, and showed it.

"Hope it's not bad news," said the postman.

Gave Name to Vogue

The name "Silhouette" is derived from Etienne de Silhouette, a French minister of finance, who was famous for his measures of economy in 1759. All business was stripped of unnecessary detail. Paintings were reduced to mere outlines. Whether this was in conformance with the spirit of economy or because it was coincidence that black and white outline portraits became popular at this time, the name "Silhouette" was applied to them and has clung.

Animal Highly Valued

The water buffalo is valued highly in China, especially in the fields, where it is used for the cultivation of the rice crop. It is said that they are more powerful than the ox and capable of dragging or carrying a heavier load. The female yields a much greater quantity of milk than a cow, and of excellent quality, from which the ghee or semi-fluid butter of India is made. The hide is valued for its strength and durability.

Firestone

Tire Prices Are LOW—

CRUDE RUBBER HIGHEST IN YEARS

Buy Now and Save Money!

The unprecedented demand for Firestone quality and mileage has more than doubled the sales of Gum-Dipped Cords to car owners so far this year, enabling us—because of this tremendous volume—to keep prices low.

Experienced car owners insist on tires that deliver the greatest mileage at the lowest cost per mile, because such tires last longer—make the restricted rubber supply go further—reduce crude rubber costs—and help maintain the present low tire prices

Gum-Dipping, the

MOST MILES PER DOLLAR

Firestone extra process, is also one of the biggest and most important economy factors in tire performance. This method of treating cord fabric, developed by Firestone tire chemists and engineers, insulates every fiber of every cord with rubber, and gives the sidewalls the extra strength to withstand the extra flexing strain—insuring maximum safety, comfort and economy.

Buy now—make sure of economical transportation by obtaining these outstanding Firestone superiorities at present low prices.

Former Cameron Youth Gets Recognition As Writer of Poetry; Max Reynolds Contribution to Current Literature.

The following poems by Max Reynolds, a nephew of Mr. Robert Smith, was clipped from a recent issue of the Houston Chronicle. The Herald has on several occasions reproduced other poems from the pen of Max Reynolds who is a member of the Poetry Society of Texas in Dallas.

BROKEN HEART.

Broken heart, I really feel sorry for you.

There isn't any use to try and Mend it again because the Strings are easily torn And little gusts of the past Will pierce it with sharp stabs. Take heart, broken heart

And hold your head up high! What do you care for loss of love When the whole world is full of it And God is everywhere?

Go about your work quietly and Keep dry-eyes. Say a prayer Now and then. Sing a joyful song. And in a little while your heart Will not be subject to those Breath-taking stabs.

I know that you have suffered But it's the suffering of life That makes us fine and have Souls of pure gold!

And in the years to come, You won't think about your Broken heart, It'll just be a sacred memory That you will treasure always!

A SEMI-DEATH.

Dark crags beside a river
Crying mournfully;
Waves dashing angrily
Dark pools;
Dizzy—vague—weak—
Unsupportable—drowning—
Going down, down, down.
Stronger—weaker, weaker—
Moaning—moaning—
Crying—crying—
Rolling—rolling
Into the Valley
Of Misunderstanding!

"A Wish" was selected by the Houston-Post Dispatch as one of the best of three poems selected in the weekly prize contest. The poem and others follow:

A WISH.

When my life grows dim
And the light in my eyes
Goes out,
I hope that none shall say
The candle of my life
Did not give a lovely light!

SILENCE.

Silence
The great gift of God—
The eternal, sweet rest
From pain
And suffering.
Silence—
Death—
Calm, untroubled, deep
Sleep.
Spaces of still, cool nights.
A smothered song—a crushed Violet.

LOVELY LADY.

(To Ivy.)

Lovely Lady
I see you on the terrace
Green, and as you walk
So stately and so serenely
I wonder if the stars that
Shine so brightly and so
Quietly at night
Are like you?
Lovely Lady

On the mountain top
With the cold winds
Blowing through your Hair, I wonder if your
Heart is cold as marble
When you rest on the Mountain top?
Lovely Lady

By the seashore
Why do you prance upon
The sands and neither
Look to right or left?
You are not the stars—
You are not cold—
Why you are the
Lovely Lady!

ON BEING UNAWARE.

(To V. L. M.)

You are such a lovely light
That I can not understand
Why you shine so brightly
For me.

The silver moon and
Sofrano roses remind me
Of you when you were
Shell-pink and an orange
Fawn.

Gladiolus lie asleep in
Your hair while cannas
Lemon-yellow play
Quietly at your side.
And yet, you are so unaware!

LOVELY APRIL.

Lovely April
With your silver
Wings and
Singing tones.
How gaily you
Chat and flirt
With the cool
Winds which blow
Through your
Violet-gold hair.
Were I like you—
Cool, impassioned
Beauty
I would not waste
My loveliness in
Wet showers!

(To V. L. M.)

Starlight. Moonlight.
Pools of clear, crystal
Water. Water lilies
Bowing gracefully in
The pond.
White roses. Sweet
Perfume. Innocent and
Lovely. The silver shadow
Of a wild deer running
Through the wooded forest.
Soft. Clear. Velvet.
Her voice. A golden bell
Ringing slowly at sundown.
Venetian walls of cream.

Her kiss. Like tasting
Cool spring water.
Elusive. Bewildering.
A breath of life. Love.
Devine ecstasy.

SORROWS.

Sorrows
Hidden away in my heart,
Nestled close they are
To my soul,
Silent and soft they Speak—
Dream-like and star-like
They bruise me with
Their piercing.
Fluttering stabs.
Sorrows
Sacred unto myself—
Holy—untouched they are—
Remote—inaccessible.
My heart
Is locked for those who
Would my sorrows steal.

IF RICH FOLKS GET BY WITH BREAKING LIQUOR LAWS AS GOVERNOR CHARGES, JUDGE WATSON WANTS TO KNOW WHY.

If it be true as Governor Ferguson states, that convictions for the violation of liquor laws are not made against citizens worth over $5000 Judge John Watson of the District Court of Milam county wants an investigation and so charged the Grand Jury impaneled here Monday morning.

Rich folks who get by the law may be numerous and the Judge does not presume to pass upon the actual conditions but went far in his charge that discrimination in indictments constitute a serious reflection upon the citizenship as well as the government.

Judge Watson charged the grand jury to look into violations, if any, of the election laws and other violations of the law. The foreman of the Grand Jury is W. B. Elliott of Thorndale.

The September term of court has begun and a number of cases are pending for trial.

Many Attractions Offered at Cotton Palace this Year.

Announcement was made Saturday by the Cotton Palace management that crowds at the exposition this year will probably be augmented by thousands of Boy Scouts, Rotarians, and DeMolay members, who will be here on days yet to be set aside for their respective state-wide organizations.

An attractive program, combining many new and novel features is being prepared by Waco DeMolay leaders including Master Councillor Lamar McGinnis and his assistants. The scores of DeMolay Chapters in the state are all expected to send large delegations to the exposition on the respective days to be reserved for them. These delegates will come in uniform and parades will be staged.

The DeMolay proposal has met with the hearty sanction of the Cotton Palace directors. It will be a new feature and one which should prove a big drawing card.

When president W. F. Crawford of the Cotton Palace announced at a Rotary meeting about three weeks ago that arrangements were under way for a state Rotary day at the exposition, there were not many who believed that this big undertaking could be carried out. It has now been announced, however, that practically all the details have been thrashed out, and that one of the choice dates of the exposition will be set aside for Texas Rotarians.

Nearly 100 Rotary Clubs

There are nearly a hundred Rotary clubs in the state. All will no doubt have representation. Rotary clubs are composed of the leading business and professional men of the respective communities in which they reside. The motto is 'Service'. A program is conformity with magnitude of the huge Rotary organization is being planned by president T. D. Brooks, and others of the Waco Rotary club.

Another big free picture

Prompted by the many favorable comments which were accorded the presentation of the superphotoplay 'The Covered Wagon' in the coliseum the management is at the present time closing a contract for the presentation this year of a picture which is one of the hits of the season, the name at this time can not be disclosed.

Sufficient it is to say that its choice came only after careful deliberation on the part of the management and only after a careful study of the seasons best photoplays. It will be presented free.

Boy Scouts Archery Contest

Archery is one of the most ancient of arts. Recently the boy scouts have revived its practice in this country. Waco Boy Scouts have led in this work and archers produced in this section have shown up far better than those of any part of Texas.

In keeping with the scouts plan of tournaments a state wide contest will be held at the Cotton Palace this fall. Scout Executive A. I. Laurence will have charge of the affair. Close to 100 Scouts archers, representing a score or more of Texas towns and cities are expected to participate. At the first state wide tourney ever held in Texas, more than 40 archers participated. This tournament was held in Waco, and was won by this city by a big margin.

The game is a fascinating one, and one which is interesting to the spectator as well as the participant.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY ON "GOLD BONDS"

"Before I go to the bank to ask advice about investing the money mother left me, I wish you would tell me something more about bonds," said Helen to Aunt Emmy. "Am I right in thinking that gold bonds are absolutely safe? Are gold bonds what people mean by gilt edge securities?"

"What a child it is!" laughed Aunt Emmy. "I can see that you do need to learn something about bonds. The term 'gold bond' does not have anything to do with the term 'gilt edged security.' The latter is nothing more than a commonly used phrase that means a safe security. Companies that issue gold bonds usually agree to redeem them in United States gold coin of the weight and fineness of the gold coin issued by the United States Treasury at the time the bonds are put on the market. This is done in order to protect the bondholders from the very remote possibility of a radical change in the value of United States currency, such as, for example, the changes in the values of German and other European currencies as a result of the war. While such a thing is unlikely to occur in this country, financiers always try to guard against every possible trouble. Although a bond may be payable in gold it is unnecessary to demand payment in actual gold coin since our American money is on a gold basis anyhow and our good old paper dollars have exactly the same value as golden dollars.

"But you want to bear in mind one thing. Because you buy a so-called 'gold bond,' that does not mean that the bond is secured by gold in any way, or that it is stronger than any other bond. The strength of a bond lies simply and only in the ability of the company that issues it to pay its debts. And of course you should consider the value of the property pledged or mortgaged to secure the bond. If any property is given as security."

"Dear me, Aunt Emmy," exclaimed Helen. "I never realized how much one needs to know before investing one's money. In my case it's awfully

The banks of Bodford county, Tennessee, are furnishing pure bred eggs to all who will agree to return one pullet for each fifteen eggs in the fall

The Missouri Bankers Association issued the first number of the "Agricultural Information Service Quarterly" in April. This publication deals with timely agricultural subjects of interest to bankers. A discussion of the various projects proposed as a basis for the program of banker-farmer co-operation in Missouri appears in the first issue.

Clearing houses in Georgia have approved a proposal for the expenditure of $30,000 annually for the next three years for the purpose of carrying out a program of farm development and crop diversification in Georgia. The proposal was initiated by the Georgia Bankers Association. The plan calls for the creation of a state-wide development committee of thirty members which will function under the direction of the Agricultural Committee of the Georgia Bankers Association.

Nebraska bankers are going to school. The College of Agriculture is having a short course in agriculture for bankers. Registration is in charge of the Nebraska Bankers Association. The predominant thought is, "Every bank in Nebraska should be represented." Nine out of ten banks in one county have signed attendance cards. Scores of the cards have been received by Dan V. Stephens, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Bankers Association, and he has received over a hundred letters on the short course.

NOTICE TO AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

The Bill enacted by the last Legislature of Texas known as the Headlight Law which requires testing of all automobile headlights also require that car owners present their Official Headlight Certificate at time of registering their cars at the office of the Tax Collector.

Car owners are requested to present their Headlight Certificate when they register their cars.

The law requires the Tax Collector to demand this Headlight Certificate before he can issue license for registration fees paid and as the law is mandatory in this respect auto owners will save both time and annoyance by presenting this certificate.

It is the desire of this office to give the best of service and in order to acquaint the people with this requirement we are asking the co-operation of all automobile dealers as well as the auto headlight stations of the county in getting this information to the people.

Very respectfully,

Roy Law

Tax Collector Milam County.

Foreign Missions as Seen by Former Cameron Lumber Dealer.

The following tribute to foreign mission work was taken from a letter from Frank N. Daniels formerly manager of Milam County Lumber Co., in Cameron, now president of the Dascamb-Daniels Lumber Company of Kansas City., written from Florence, Italy, on July 30, 1924.

While Mr. Daniels and his wife lived in Cameron they were active members of the Christian church.

"We also visited the Methodist Mission during the day. The pastor was away in the U. S. A. for conference. There was an Egyptian lady in charge who proved to be very interesting. I have always believed in missions but have not contributed as I should. From this on, my hat is off to the man or woman who devotes his or her life to foreign mission work. The obstacles are great and the opposition more so. The Methodist should be commended for establishing their Italian headquarters at Rome, for they learn first hand just what issues they have to meet. The Baptist and Presbyterians both have good missions. The Methodists have a large office like building, two church auditoriums and hold two services every Sunday, one in Italian for the 600 or 700 members, the other in English for a very limited number. Many tourists attend. They also invite any tourists to preach. The Methodists have 60 churches in Italy. Rome is their headquarters. They have nearly as many schools for the poor and needy."

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels visited most of the countries of Europe last year and the above extract is from a letter to his brother Newt Daniels who visited Oxsheer Smith in Cameron last summer.

The Two Millionth Chevrolet Built on September Eighth.

The two-millionth Chevrolet built Sept 8 establishes a new record in automotive history.

The Chevrolet Motor Company is the first maker of selective gear shift cars to attain this production.

"Passing the two-million production mark emphasizes Chevrolet's progress," said W. S. Knudsen, president of the company. "The present record should not be the last as the company expects to produce close to a half million cars during 1925 which will exceed by a wide margin the 1923 Chevrolet peak production."

When the first "Baby Grand" touring model was turned out at the Flint plant in 1913 Chevrolet production for that year totaled only 5,987 which today would represent less than three days work. The original plant would be lost today among the huge buildings of the organization which include motor, pressed metal and assembly plants at Flint, Mich., six other assembly plants at Tarrytown, N. Y., St. Louis, Mo., Oakland, Cal., Janesville, Wis., Norwood, O., and Buffalo, N. Y., three factories at Detroit for the manufacture respectively of gears, axles and forgings; a transmission plant at Toledo, O., a small parts factory at Bay City, Mich., and an export assembling plant at Bloomfield, N. J. The company occupies 167 buildings with a total floor space of 6,555,227 square feet. The various plants occupy 345 acres.

The first Chevrolet, purchased by the company a few years ago from the original owner, is still in perfect running condition. At the conservative average of 10,000 miles per car, the two million Chevrolets produced since the completion of this first Chevrolet represent 20,000,000,000 miles of transportation or more than 40,000 round trips between the earth and the moon. Placed end to end the 2,000,000 Chevrolets would form a traffic jam 4,655 miles long.

The Chevrolet Motor Company at 12 years old is a comparative new comer in the automotive field. The gigantic strides which it has made are illustrated well by the fact that nearly one million of the two million cars produced so far were made during the last two years.

As the company grew, improved machinery permitted more cars to be built per employe, marvelous precision equipment rendered possible quick and accurate assembling and the resultant increase in production gave the advantage of tremendous purchasing power.

These factors formed an endless chain continually pulling down the cost of manufacture, an advantage which consistently has been passed on to the purchaser. The result is that the two millionth Chevrolet, a Fisher body coach with refinements, improvements and stamina undreamed of a decade ago, now sells at a figure more than $300 below the price of the original Chevrolet touring car which sold for $1,000.

The company's position in the automotive industry was strengthened further in 1918 when it became one of the units in the gigantic General Motors corporation. The executive offices are in the General Motors building at Detroit.

Disregarding the idea of yearly models, constant efforts are being made to improve the car. But changes, even of the most minor variety, are made only after long and grueling tests over the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground at Milford, Mich., not far from Detroit, where seven Chevrolet cars, operating night and day, are making a total mileage of 75,000 monthly.

"Comparatively speaking, Chevrolet has only started," said Mr. Knudsen. "Our policy of providing maximum Quality at the lowest possible cost has brought spectacular success to the organization. We shall continue to follow this policy."

Ten Santa Fe Years

How the Santa Fe has grown in ten years and what that growth means to Santa Fe patrons. Better service at reasonable rates, due to efficiency of operation and millions spent for improvements.

That Santa Fe freight moves promptly, that Santa Fe journeys are enjoyable—doesn't just happen.

Wise economies, 284 million dollars spent between 1914 and 1924 on track and equipment, and the co-operation of patrons and employes—these have helped to build up a great transportation machine which is at your instant service for a most reasonable charge. And this in the face of heavy increase in costs of operation without corresponding increase in rates.

In these ten years the Santa Fe and the Southwest have grown together. The Santa Fe's growth has been not only in mileage and facilities, but also in ability to serve patrons better.

This decade has been a period of expansion. In it the Santa Fe's operated mileage has increased 922 miles. Each locomotive now hauls 54 per cent more. Nearly 14,000 more Santa Fe freight cars are available. There has been an increase of 15 per cent in passengers carried one mile and 79 per cent in revenue tons carried one mile.

Other important items have grown, too. Such as expense of maintenance of the railroad, which increased 121 per cent, or $1,700 a mile. Maintenance of locomotives showed an upward trend of 137 per cent, or $6,141 each. Passenger cars 85 per cent, or $999 a car. Freight cars 155 per cent, or $161 per car. All operating expenses combined jumped 114 per cent. Taxes advanced for each mile of track 196 per cent, or $993. Total taxes in 1924 were $17,730,961 or $1,499 per mile.

Yet Santa Fe freight rates have gone up only 28 per cent and passenger fares only 47 per cent.

Freight loading carried by each car has increased 3.12 tons, or 14 per cent. Freight loading carried by each freight train has increased 226 tons, or 54 per cent. These are gratifying marks of progress.

The Santa Fe hopes to keep on growing and to keep on giving satisfactory service.

W. B. STOREY, President
The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway System

The Staff of Life

Exercise and wholesome foods are the daily diet for a strong and sturdy youngster.

Doing its bit to build a vigorous body is bread—well named the "staff of life."

Little wonder that when the day's school is over and the children run to play, the tired feeling vanishes—that a smile of contentment appears after they have eaten a slice or two of bread.

For the bread which slices thin—which is always fresh—which young and old like—just ask for Posey's—and the pies, cakes and pastry we have are as good as one could wish for.

Trades Day Success Business Men Testify

Jim Neinast, groceryman says: "Our business showed a nice increase over previous First Monday Trading and we are satisfied with the day. We sold flour cheap for the day and disposed of a large stock of it. On this product we realized nothing but loss but the people bought liberally of other goods. We trust next First Monday will see a better program and Giles L. Avriett, popular groceryman, reports an increased business for Trades Day. While his business is good at all times the effort made for that day was manifest by increased business. Mr. Avriett is a consistent advertiser of his business and believes the Trades Day effort should be continued.

"Our business was good" says C. N. Green. "We enjoyed a nice increase for that day on account of the special effort put forth for Trades Day. We advertised and got good results from the advertising. We believe the trades day effort is a good thing for Cameron and we are strong for it."

J. T. Parma who made special offers for Trades Day did so much business he thought everybody in town came to his store. "We had a big day Monday, several times as good as Saturday. Parma's news went out advertising the day and we carried ads in the Cameron papers. Our business for the day was far above what we expected and we believe the effort is worthwhile."

Mr. Hill of the Jackson Pharmacy No. 2 said: "It is a good thing—this trades day effort. It brought good business to town and of course we got our share of it. Our sales for that day were good and we believe no better effort can be made to arouse interest in First Monday trading."

Many other expressions favorable to trades day could be printed and but for lack of time to see the merchants, we could present no more comment this week.
